ASHLEY CROUSE
Ashley is a food alchemist running a tiny homestead and fermentary with her family in Tatamagouche, NS. She focuses on regenerative agriculture, food medicine and bringing people back to nature. She also helps the husband manage the Tatamagouche Farmers' Market.

BRENT LOCKE
Seeking adventure in the outdoors has always been Brent's passion. Growing up in the St. Margarets Bay area, he was always in the woods camping, hiking, hunting and fishing. He is a Paddle Canada Certified Advanced Flatwater Instructor and Touring Skills certified, certified range safety officer, a member of the Canadian Ski Instructor Alliance and a ski instructor at Ski Wentworth.

RHONDA RAFUSE
I have lived my entire 60 years in Pictou County. I've raised 2 children with my husband of 40 years and they now have 3 grandchildren. I love to travel and I'm not afraid to try anything. I really mean that. I don't ask what it is until I take at least 1 bite. People say I'm very adventurous and brave when it comes to food. I'll try anything once. I consider myself a true Bluenoser loving all seasons, cultures, nature and foods. I spend my summers at the cottage with a small garden and enjoying freshly picked mussels from the reef, fruit from the trees and of course buying from our local farmers. There is no better place I would rather live.

LISA STINSON
Born and raised in Toronto Ontario, serving tables in little Greek restaurant was my first job in the food industry. The food was so fresh, made in-house and served in the style of a diner. It set a pretty high standard for food quality in my mind. Bartending, Catering and Banquet serving filled my resume. Our family of four lives in a small village outside Tatamagouche since 2017. Running a farm where we have Honey Bees and Process Firewood. We love to road trip around and try new foods and in North Colchester that is a real treat! Bon Appetite.

NADINE MACLELLAN
Nadine MacLellan is a fisher from River John who resides in Wallace. She was raised on the North Shore spending most of her life exploring what is the unceded Mi'kmaq Territory around her. Fishing the Northumberland Strait with three generations of her family has fostered a deep love of the sea; she spends a great deal of time exploring new beaches in an effort to clean up our shorelines. She is passionate about being an active member of her community while always looking for new outlets to foster her love for writing & photography. She thanks each of you for your affection towards North Shore & looks forward to exploring it along with you.

LUKE STALLMAN
Artist, photographer, and aspiring author. Luke was born and raised in Ontario but now calls River John his home. He's currently working on several books, including a children's book that he is also illustrating and hopes to have it published soon. Luke is the photographer for the cover of this issue and also for other images within.

Keep an eye out for our Fall/Winter issue coming this October. It will include a new feature called Exploring the North Shore - where we take you on a trip to an area on the north shore and tell you all the stuff you absolutely must eat, do, buy and indulge in while you're there!

What on Earth Did I Do?

I thought that several times while working on this magazine. When the idea of first starting a magazine came to mind it didn't seem like such a big deal. It's been something I've wanted to do for a while now and I guess like a lot of things, you don't really realize everything that's involved until you actually do it.

So why did I do it? Well for starters I am passionate about helping small business owners. I think that's part of my success as a graphic designer. I like to help and I like to help others succeed. Starting a magazine was my way to help other small business owners, by giving them a medium to promote their business or service.

I also started this magazine to promote the area I now call home and the wonderful communities within it. Being a newcomer to Nova Scotia, and especially to the north shore, I saw the area with a fresh set of eyes and all the potential it held. I joined all the Facebook groups for the surrounding areas when we first moved here and was astounded by all the events and activities that were happening. Mind you, this was before COVID and we all know how that messed up everyone's plans, including mine. But it also gave me time to think and plan and that's when this magazine really began to take shape.

Within these pages you'll find information on arts and culture, history, food, the outdoors and so much more. And I have so much more I want to share! This magazine isn't just for the tourist or vacationer, it's a magazine for everyone that enjoys the north shore.

I wouldn't have been able to accomplish any of this without a whole lot of help and support. I would like to thank each and every advertiser for their support and sharing my vision for what this can and will be. To my contributors, without you this magazine would have been a lot more pictures and a lot less words, so thank you! A shout out to my son, thank you for the wonderful cover photo and other photography work you've done for me. And of course, thank you to my husband who lets me spend our money on my crazy ideas.

I sincerely hope you enjoy this first issue of Sunrise Trail Magazine!

STONE SOUP CAFE

Pictou | <https://www.facebook.com/Stonesoupcafeandcatering>

I had the pleasure of dining in this little gem of a cafe on Water Street in the beautiful and historic town of Pictou and thoroughly enjoyed every bite. All safety measures were taken, making it very comfortable and homey. There is a small patio overlooking the harbour which would be amazing on a warm day. I definitely will return to experience this. The COVID restrictions were respected, which was nice.

We enjoyed a beautiful glass of homemade sangria while our meal was being prepared. The aromas definitely got our taste buds excited.

Stone Soup had an International 3-course evening feast and I had the privilege of enjoying the many flavours and aromas of the South American country of Uruguay. The first course was a very flavorful Lentil soup with fried bread. I must say it was certainly a pleasant surprise to have such a flavorful soup. The bread was delicious also. Nice and crispy.

The main course was huge and very well presented, it was a feast for the eyes. The aroma was mouthwatering. All your senses certainly were awakened. I loved trying all the different tastes, with every bite complementing the next. The cafe did an awesome job of cooking complimentary flavours that don't overshadow the next bite so you were able to enjoy each one separately.

The meal was finished with a beautifully light sponge cake covered with caramelized peaches and a generous dollop of fresh cream. Light and very delicious. For the cookie lover, there were mouthwatering light, flaky, and very rich shortbread cookies with Dulce de Leche served as well. You certainly won't leave hungry.

On the way out make sure to purchase a few of their homemade salted caramel candies. Wow, what a treat! You won't be disappointed.

I highly recommend Stone Soup cafe for its quaintness, friendliness and of course the fresh, homemade from scratch, meal items. The owner made sure we were very happy and well-fed. There is something for everyone. I also love that they keep their Facebook page up to date and let you know about their special items for sale, especially all the baked goods.

I hope that everyone that visits the beautiful waterfront town of Pictou will drop into the Stone Soup Cafe for a meal or just a coffee and a delicious homemade dessert.

THE TIPPERARY

Tatamagouche | @tipperarybakery

Last summer, I couldn't resist the rolling whiffs of fresh roasted coffee and fresh baked goods filling the air with magic, as we followed our noses walking down the main street of beautiful Tatamagouche. My nose lead me to a colorful and very welcoming cafe called the Tipperary Cafe.

I knew I had to try this little treasure of a bakery and coffee shop and I am so happy I did. I was definitely not disappointed. What a gem! Everything from the bright cheery color decor, the old fashion screen door, and homey atmosphere where your senses come alive and sweet childhood memories return.

The service was extremely friendly, attentive and caring. The cafe had a very clean and bright delightful atmosphere, they were respectful of protocols and I felt that my visit was very safe and genuinely much appreciated.

While we waited for our lunch, which didn't take long, we thoroughly enjoyed a delicious hot mug of freshly ground Meeting Water maccachino coffee served with care and artistic flare. The aroma of coffee filling the air was complimented by the smell of fresh baked treats. This place is certainly a sweet bouquet of sentiments.

The cinnamon rolls are so amazing we had to buy a few to go as we knew we would be craving one later that day. They are huge and would make a great coffee break item or a dessert. There was plenty of cinnamon sugar flowing over the flaky pastry layers. Just like gramma use to make, so we couldn't resist. I also recommend the delightfully delicious lemon squares. So light, lemony tart with a kiss of sweet. Just perfect.

I cannot say how much we also enjoyed the mouth watering, delectable, avocado toast. Made with fresh homemade bread and the perfect balance and paring of fresh ingredients, creating a delicious and beautiful meal. We also couldn't say no to trying a bowl of homemade red lentil soup after we overheard a couple say how much they loved it. They were right. It is certainly packed with the perfect punch of flavors. Rich aromatics of spices and plenty of delicious ingredients. I have made plenty of trips to this Cafe since. I try something new once in awhile and never regretting my choice.

I highly suggest dropping in for a break, meal or treat. And don't forget your coffee. The coffee is roasted and made there and is sold in a take away pouch for you to make and enjoy at home.

While you're there consider purchasing a few extra goodies to take home for later. You'll be glad you did.

THE CHOWDER HOUSE

Tatamagouche

Centered on Main Street in Tatamagouche is a cozy little cafe that is possibly the grand master of comfort food. Decadent soups and mouth watering chowders are made in-house, in small batches daily, using fresh seafood and vegetables. Folks will travel from Halifax, Amherst and New Glasgow for the chowders here – they are that good.

If soup is not your thing and a hearty sandwich, burger or wrap is more your taste, their burgers are made in house with fresh local ground beef and served with the option of three types of fries or a salad – its heaven. For a little kick, order the deluxe burger platter and ask for some curry mayo and add the coleslaw (which comes with every platter) to the burger and then top it off with the curry mayo – you are welcome in advance.

Through this uncertain interlude from normal dining – The Chowder House has continued to offer the best service options for your safe dining experience. Take out is a great option as most of the menu travels well if you have to take it home to enjoy. Also, the packaging is strong enough (but not Styrofoam – yay!) that it holds up to dining in your vehicle as most of us have become accustomed to.

Looking for something to do with your special someone? Friday is a special day at The Chowder House – celebrating seafood! A special selection of seafood is presented beautifully on Friday's, which usually includes four or five differently prepared selections and a beverage and/or a dessert. They change this every week and post their creations on Facebook so you can see what you are ordering – if you are having takeout.

There are other great eateries along the way, and I will tell you all about them. Make this your first stop!

Quick Rustic Beef and Squash Soup

(low GI)

30 to 45 minutes and serves 4

INGREDIENTS:

2 tbsp avocado or other vegetable oil
1 lb of grass feed lean beef
1 medium yellow onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 stalks of celery, sliced
2 tbsp of tomato paste
1 med butternut squash, peeled, seeded and roughly chopped
1 med to large sweet potato, peeled and roughly chopped
½ cup of barley, rinsed and drained
2 tsp chili powder
2 tsp ground cumin
½ tsp paprika
1 tbsp dried parsley
salt and pepper to taste
6 to 7 cups of beef stock, homemade or store bought

HOW TO:

Heat a dutch oven or soup pot on med heat.

Once heated, add 2 tbsp of oil.

Break up beef while adding to the pot and brown for about 5 min.

Add onion and celery, a pinch of salt and a couple of pinches of pepper and cook, stirring occasionally until onion and celery begin to soften.

Add garlic, cook one minute.

Add tomato paste and stir until paste starts to darken.

Add chili powder, cumin and paprika, parsley and another pinch of salt and pepper and stir in.

Once combined, add the beef stock and bring to a gentle boil and add the rinsed and drained barley.

Let simmer until barley softens, about 25 minutes.

Taste, check seasonings, add more if desired.

Fill your favourite large soup bowls and garnish with grated cheddar or jack cheese, a tbsp of sour cream or yogurt, cilantro, and red pepper flakes or hot sauce (if desired).

Serve with a hearty bread, naan or biscuits. Enjoy!

*Blueberry's
Café*

Buying Local

Buying local produce is not only good for the environment (less packaging, less fossil fuels used, less air pollution) it's also good for the local economy and it's healthier for you too! The north shore has a lot to offer locally. Here are four locations along the shore you don't want to miss.

JAMIESON'S
GENERAL STORE
Tatamagouche
jamiesongeneralstore.ca

Offers locally sourced fruits, vegetables, baked goods, meats, dairy products, and more. They also have meals-to-go prepared in-store, home deliveries, and meal kits. The store is open year round in Creamery Square.

LAKENMAN'S FARM
Pictou
@LakenmansFarm

You can't get much more fresh or more local than direct from the farm! If it's vegetables you're looking for, Lakenman's grows every one possible. They also sell cut flowers, locally made pickles and jams, and garden decor.

CARLSON LANE
FARM MARKET
River John
carlsonfamilyfarm.ca

This family farm produces field crops of raspberries, asparagus, and vegetables and hothouse veggies free from pesticides and herbicides. They also offer other products such as their Gluten Free Oatcakes, made from Canadian ingredients.

WALLACE
HARBOUR
LOBSTER POUND
Wallace

When thinking local don't forget there's a lot of local meat and seafood options too. For fresh local lobster look no further than the Wallace Harbour Lobster Pound. They offer fresh live and cooked lobsters during the lobster season.

Farmers' Markets

Nova Scotia has the most Farmers' Markets per capita than any where else in Canada. More markets are operating year-round with a more varied type of vendor. You can now find clothing, beverages, wine, fermented foods and artisan products at most markets.

Buying fresh from the farm produce and supporting a local business is still possible. With COVID safety measures in place you can now shop your local market in person or even from the safety of your home, with some markets offering online shopping.

Unfortunately, some of the smaller markets along the north shore were not able to safely open. However, the Pugwash Farmers' Market and the Tatamagouche Farmers' Market both found ways to operate safely to allow you to continue to buy the local products you love. Be sure to visit them this spring and summer.

Pugwash Farmers' Market

10222 Durham St. Pugwash

pugwashfarmersmarket.com

Saturday 8:30am-1pm, May Long Weekend to Thanksgiving Weekend

The Pugwash Farmers' Market is composed of farmers, artisans and bakers who gather every Saturday in the market square at the heart of the scenic village of Pugwash, Nova Scotia.

Cultivating Resilience with Food Medicine

BY ASHLEY CROUSE

Fermentation is at the heart of everything we do here at the farm. There's no better feeling than patiently growing heirloom vegetables to be able to chop them up, add sea salt and watch them come alive with gut healing magic. The gut is where we absorb nutrients and where all of our energy comes from. The health of our gut microbiome can affect our immunity, our moods and how we fight off disease. One way we can keep a healthy balance is by adding fermented foods, full of healthy bacteria, to our diets while cutting down on harmful processed foods + refined sugars.

Microbes can help make foods more nutritious + healthy because they digest the bad stuff for us. Things that would be harder on us like grains and dairy, are easier to consume once fermented. As long as you create the perfect environment for them to work in, they can make food safer as well. Keeping the vegetables under the salt brine in an anaerobic environment helps the microbes eat all the bad bacteria that won't thrive in those conditions. With aerobic ferments like kombucha and vinegar, we see the SCOBY (Symbiotic Culture of Bacteria and Yeast) or "mother" grow on the top to protect the environment within. Contrary to popular belief, ferments are actually safer than canned foods. Where canned foods are sealed up, ferments are living things, and you can definitely tell when they've gone bad just by using your senses.

Fermentation is still practiced traditionally today by many cultures, for the preservation + digestive benefits. Eastern cultures also enjoy ferments for medicinal purposes and they practice food medicine daily. We love to use our knowledge of plant medicine to add even more benefits to our ferments. We use incredible tonic herbs like nettle, immune boosting herbs like hibiscus, and anti inflammatory flowers like calendula to create a nourishing food medicine. We also keep bees to create honey for our products to eliminate refined sugar.

Our goal is to reconnect people with their food and show them how it can be used to heal the gut and boost immunity while still being delicious and satisfying. With 70% of our immune system being in the gut, what we eat matters. A spoonful of healthy bacteria a day will make a world of difference. At the very least, fermentation can be a fun culinary project with so many options out there from vegetable ferments to sourdough and the flavour combinations are endless. If you'd like to learn more about fermentation follow Moth + Moon Farm & Apothecary on Facebook/Instagram or stop in to see us at the Tatamagouche Farmers Market on Saturday mornings.

Enjoyment of Food

BY KIM LANGILLE, BUTTER TRAIL NATURALS

"Nature will castigate those who do not masticate" Horace Fletcher was an American food nutritionist and faddist who earned the nickname "The Great Masticator" during the turn of the 20th century.. He argued that food should be chewed thoroughly until liquefied before swallowing. This sentiment further lamented in another diction read, "drink your solids and chew your liquids"!!

Eating begins with the simple art of chewing. Chew well to polarize the food with your system and in order to make smooth digestion possible. If under pressure at meals, simply chew and let the chewing relax you. Then you can be grateful and enjoy the whole spectrum of tastes and aromas that make up the meal.

Carbohydrate digestion begins in the mouth. These are foods from whole grains, legumes, fruits, vegetables and milled flours. Thorough chewing turns grains and other complex carbohydrates into satisfying sugars and makes oils, proteins and minerals available for maximum absorption. Amylase, an enzyme secreted from cheeks of your mouth is required for the breakdown of your carbs and why it is so important to keep this food group in your mouth as long as one can. Hurrying our children to eat is teaching bad food habits in early stages of life. Without adequate chewing you will feel heavy and dull, develop gas and be undernourished. Poor choice meats, fats, sweets and processed foods satisfy the immediate desire for taste, but soon dull the taste buds. The more they are chewed, the worse they taste. The more whole carbohydrate foods are chewed, the sweeter they become.

To get started in the correct habit of chewing, try counting the chewing of each bite thirty to fifty times. Thirty bites certainly will have food greatly masticated so fifty chews will more than likely have the food disappeared and swallowed!! It helps to put down your eating utensil in between bites.

Ancient Chinese and Japanese traditions also teach the benefits of chewing well. Most modern people must re-learn this forgotten art in order to make a successful transition to whole foods.

Set aside a special time and place for meals in a clean environment, surrounded with pleasant sounds, aromas, colors and conversation. Avoid emotionally charged subjects and confused, scattered talk or thoughts. Avoid eating while tired, too hot or too cold, worried angry, standing, watching TV, reading or before bathing. These activities make the food hard to digest. Relax and get comfortable. Perhaps undertake self-reflection about your condition. Eating is a time to receive offerings in the form of food to nurture and revitalize your body. Consider your manners insofar as they represent your intention toward others. Give attention to the unique qualities of each food and the work involved in bringing it to you.

Living History

ON THE NORTH SHORE

The north shore is rich with history. The Mi'kmaq, Acadian, Foreign Protestant, Scots, Irish, and many others have all left their heritage and cultural mark on this region. We should all take a moment to reflect on the numerous stories, places, memories and people that have truly made the north shore one of the greatest places to live.

You can enrich your knowledge of local history, heritage and culture of Tatamagouche, Malagash, Wallace, Pugwash, Wentworth, River John, and Pictou areas at several locations along the north shore. Here are a few places you might want to check out.

Creamery Square

39 CREAMERY RD., TATAMAGOUCHE

Creamery Square backs onto the Waugh River and the Trans Canada/Butter Trail in Tatamagouche. From 1925 to 1992 Tatamagouche Creamery was a working creamery. Local farmers supplied cream to The Creamery to produce the famous "Tatamagouche Butter".

The Creamery is now home to the Tatamagouche Farmer's Market, Tatamagouche Grain Elevator, The Margaret Fawcett Norrie Heritage Centre (where you can learn more about the creamery and view key artifacts that illustrate the butter making process), The Grace Jollymore Arts Centre, Senator's Stage, Jamieson's General Store, ButterTrail Mercantile, and The Boat Shop. It's a busy place on Saturday mornings and a stop you don't want to miss.

North Shore Archives

Located in Creamery Square, Tatamagouche at the Margaret Fawcett Norrie Heritage Centre.

39 Creamery Rd., Tatamagouche

River John and Area Heritage Museum

Located in the former River John Church of Christ.

1851 Hwy 6, River John

Wallace & Area Museum

Located 2 km /1.5 mi west of Wallace in the restored home (c 1839) of local shipbuilder James Davison.

13440 Hwy 6, Wallace

McCulloch House Museum

Located in Pictou in the original house of Thomas McCulloch. It tells the story of his role in education and politics in early 19th century.

86 Haliburton Rd., Pictou

Salt Mine Museum

1926 N SHORE RD, MALAGASH

If you're a bit of a history lover you'll like this stop. Located just off Route 6 the Malagash Salt Miners' Museum is the site of the first rock salt mine in Canada (1918-1959).

This small, locally run museum houses displays of local industries including salt mining, farming, and fishing, as well as providing information on the Malagash area. The museum also features an annual theme display.

Farm Fresh

Pioneer Farms

Denmark

www.facebook.com/denmarkpioneerfarms

“Embracing the spirit of the Pioneer, our family farm will use a mutually supportive ecosystem to provide fruits and vegetables” proclaims the Pioneer Farms facebook page. Although just in the start up phase of their business, Pioneer Farms has some big ideas!

Located at the old Sutherland Mill family home in Denmark, Travis and Sherryl are farming for the first time. Relocating here just a few years ago from BC, they will use an approach that will allow them to benefit from what each plant and animal can naturally provide. The ducks and chickens roam the property providing natural pest control as they eat up all the bugs they can find. The horses graze the grass down in the fields leaving weeds behind. After the horses have done their part, the pigs will be housed on that same piece of land to eat all the weeds and root up the soil causing natural aeration and tilling. And not to be forgotten, both sets of animals will also add natural fertilizer to the soil! When the pigs are done with their job, the field will be ready for Travis and Sherryl to finish preparing it for whatever it's final form will be; pasture, vegetable field, or orchard.

Pioneer Farms offers fresh free range duck and chicken eggs. Whole chickens and pasture finished pork is available in limited quantities. They also plan to have fruits and vegetables in the future as well.

The tidal river known as River John was originally called Caijebouguac (lonely river) by the indigenous Mikmaq. The English named the river Deception River but this name was lost over time and is only used by maybe a few elderly residents. It's said that the name 'River John' came to be as almost all of the original settlers had the name John; John George, John Patriquin, etc.

The river is quite busy during the summer months as a popular place for kayaking, canoeing, swimming and boating. The bridge seen in the picture is the old railway bridge, now part of the Great Trail/Jitney Trail.

Get Outside

The seasons are always changing, showing us that there's always a chance for a fresh start. This spring and summer, even though we will still be living with the effects of COVID in our lives, we can get outside and find things to see and do in our communities. The sky's the limit when it comes to natural beauty and outdoor adventure, so grab your paddle board, pack your sunscreen and dust off your hiking boots - the great outdoors are calling!

Beaches

The north shore is known for its warm-water beaches, and from Tidnish to Pictou there are plenty of sandy beaches to choose from! There are more warm-water beaches along the north shore of Nova Scotia than anywhere else in Atlantic Canada and water temperatures usually get a bit over 18°C or 70°F during July/August. Perfect for swimming!

Paddle Boarding

BY BRENT LOCKE

Northern Nova Scotia is an ideal spot to experience all kinds of outdoor adventures. The Northumberland Strait has warm, shallow waters and the tidal rivers that flow into it are perfect for stand up paddle boarding!

Guided tours with a Paddle Canada Certified Instructor and Guide are a wonderful way to explore the waters of the north shore. Especially if you are new to the sport and don't have your own equipment.

In recent years, stand up paddle boarding has become very popular because it's easy to learn, accessible for all ages and has some great physical and mental health benefits. It's a great way to improve your core strength, balance and cardio fitness. The relaxing, quiet aspects of the sport and being outside enjoying all that nature has to offer is also a great way to reduce stress.

By taking a guided tour your instructor can teach you the basic fundamentals of stand up paddle boarding such as safety procedures, proper stance, paddling techniques and basic turns. Plus they also know the best places to paddle.

Here are a few basic tips when venturing out on the water to paddle:

- Paddle with a partner if you can. Have a float plan prepared or make sure others know where you are paddling and what time you expect to be back.
- Leashes are mandatory, so wear the proper leash to suit the type of water you are paddling.
- Always wear a PFD.
- Like many outdoor sports, dress for the occasion. Have sufficient hydration and sun protection to avoid hypothermia and hyperthermia.
- Always have current knowledge of the weather and water conditions before you go paddling.

Growing up in the St. Margarets Bay area, Brent was always in the woods camping, hiking, hunting and fishing. Brent's love of fly fishing has taken him all over Canada, the United States and the Caribbean chasing many different species of fish. This passion for fly fishing and teaching people eventually took him to Northern British Columbia where he spent time as a guide. In 2015 he was introduced to stand up paddle boarding and quickly became addicted.

The excitement of teaching was not lost on paddle boarding and he is now a Paddle Canada Certified Advanced Flatwater Instructor and Touring Skills certified.

NEW_{IN}TOWN

Powersport enthusiasts can now shop local on the Northumberland Shore!

Since 2009, Cross Roads Cycle Sales has served powersport enthusiasts passionate about recreational vehicles and outdoor activities. Having outgrown their original location in Tidnish, Cross Roads recently purchased the vacant 65,000 sq. ft. building, formally known as the Seagull Pewter manufacturing plant at 11103 Rt #6 in Pugwash. After many months, owner Lee Weir has successfully retro-fit the building and opened its doors to welcome visitors in early January to rave reviews. He is very proud of his new-to-him facility and very much looks forward to becoming a retail powersport destination for the region. The new building features a 15,000 sq. ft. showroom to display its sales inventory of after-market vehicles which include motorcycles, jet-skis, ATVs and side-by-sides, along with a selection of apparel and accessory lines. A number of classic cars and hot rods are typically on display and for sale in the showroom as well. Even before COVID -19, Cross Roads already had a robust retail business on-line for aftermarket parts and ships to customers all over the world. With the showroom space on site, customers get to experience their full inventory first hand. Their core business is buying and selling used and aftermarket powersport vehicles with inventory changing rapidly, so there is always something new to see. If you are traveling on the Northumberland Shore on your motorcycle or utilizing the ATV trails while at the cottage and find yourself in need of repairs, their modern service shop is there to help get you back on the road.

Cross Roads also has a construction division that builds and sells made-to-order sheds under the "Old Hickory Buildings" brand that are perfect for a cottage bunkhouse, family playhouse or extra storage for all your summer tools and toys. Several options are available to choose from and can be seen on display in their parking lot. The shed manufacturing operation occupies about 25,000 sq. ft. in the rear portion of the building, so customers appreciate knowing that their buildings are made right here in the local area.

Cross Roads is excited about the close proximity to existing recreational multi-use trail and exploring opportunities to integrate the trail use with our activities and services. They will be hosting a variety of training courses on-site to provide local access for people wanting to take their motorcycle or ATV safety courses. Other services that are available include indoor vehicle storage and Motor Vehicle Inspections for motorcycles and trailers.

They are hopeful that COVID-19 restrictions will subside and that we will, at the very least, be back to an "Atlantic bubble" for the summer months. They have a calendar of activities planned, including car club Show n' Shines and a grand opening scheduled for Friday, July 2nd that will be part of the Canada Day long weekend celebrations in Pugwash. So stay tuned for details by following them on FB @ Cross Roads Cycle Sales.

The Value in Landscaping

A professionally designed and installed landscape is one of the most under-appreciated aspects of home ownership. Whether your home is for sale, or you're entertaining guests for the first time, their first impression of your home is based on the first thing they see, your yard and landscape!

Not only does a well-designed and maintained landscape add monetary value to your home, it provides an extension of your indoor living space by making your outdoor space comfortable and enjoyable. By following a few simple steps, anyone can have the landscape of their dreams.

Choose the proper landscape contractor: Do your research and find the right contractor for the job. Check their industry certifications, review their portfolio, and source references.

Budgeting: If building a new home, consult your local landscape professional before the building begins. They'll provide you with an estimate of what your landscape will cost. Most new homes go over budget, using the landscape budget to cover additional building costs. If funds are limited, plan the installation over a number of years.

Planning: With the aid of your landscape professional, decide how you'd like your landscape to look and what functions you'd like it to serve.

Plants: Whether you're a green thumb or not, ensure that plantings meet your needs. Ensure you're choosing the right plants for the right location in order for them to thrive.

Design: Have your landscape professional create a depiction of the finished product for your approval before the project begins.

Pricing: Agree on a price, and get it in writing.

Maintenance: Develop a maintenance schedule. Whether you'll be maintaining the property yourself, or hiring an industry professional, understand the maintenance requirements of your landscape.
